The Hallowed House

Widow's House Is Site Of Secret Rendezvous

(Editor's note: Stout hearted allies provided sanctuary while the storm rose about Jesus during his final days in Jerusalem. The home of the widow Mary of Cyprus, according to early Christian sources, was a retreat for Jesus and His disciples, and the site of the Last Supper. This is the first of a five-part Easter series recreating the turbulent events that swirled about "The Hallowed House.")

It was a pleasant, stately abode. It stood in the aristocratic upper city on the western rise of Jerusalem. But its handsome, tranquil exterior masked a dire secret.

The house was a hideaway of the inflammatory Galilean, a haven of the Master and His men.

Chilly Palm Sunday Here

Near-freezing temperatures kept most of the pre-Easter finery at home on Palm Sunday, but a bright sun and clear skies saw record numbers through area churches for the traditional services.

Churches were jammed for the services Sunday that celebrated Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem and launched Holy Week activities.

At many churches there was the traditional rite of the distribution of the symbolic palm branches. Many churches celebrated Holy Communion and received new members. Special music featured the day's services in most of the places of worship.

Early Sunday morning the low temperature here was 30 degrees and it climbed only to 47 in the afternoon. Then the temperature began a plunge that took it to 27 degrees, a new low so far this month.

A check of weather records for the last decade shows that chilly weather has been the usual setting for Palm Sundays here. The chilliest Palm Sunday since 1950 was March 25, 1956, when the low was 20 degrees and the warmest was April 3, 1955, when the day started off with a reading of 44 degrees.

Last year on Palm Sunday, March 22, the low was 23 degrees.

Student Plunges To His Death Fleeing Robbery

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Two college engineering students, flushed from a department store by police after a burglar alarm went off, made a daring leap from the roof.

One made it but was arrested four hours later. The other died of injuries in a hospital.

Robert Earl Davis, 19, son of the supervisor of the U. S. Customs Service in New Orleans, hit a high-voltage power line and plunged 60 feet to the sidewalk, suffering fatal injuries.

MERLE GITT'S $15,000 WILL UP IN COURT

An uncle of the late Merle C. Gitt, late of Littlestown R. 2, has asked a hearing in Adams County court to determine whether a housekeeper may not have brought undue pressure to make Gitt will her his approximately $15,000 estate.

In court this morning, attorneys for both sides were asked to arrange a date for a hearing when questioning will take place on whether Merle Gitt was in "sound mind" at the time he made his "last will" and whether the housekeeper, Edna Albert, Littlestown R. 2, her brother, George Parr, "and other persons unknown" may have "destroyed the free agency" of Merle C. Gitt by "fraud and threats . . . inordinate flattery and physical and moral coercion."

Enter Denials

Allegations that the couple "destroyed" Gitt's "free agency" in the manner listed are made by Emory C. Gitt, Mt. Joy Twp., who alleged that he is a son of Edward D. Gitt, paternal grandfather of Merle C. Gitt, and thus an heir to Merle C. Gitt. He lists as other heirs Mervin C. Patterson, Littlestown R. 2, son of Henry Patterson, maternal grandfather of Merle C. Gitt, and Henrietta P. Barnhart, Arendtsville, a granddaughter of Henry Patterson.

Gitt alleges that the deceased's "physical and mental condition was greatly impaired by a long and established mental condition and a long physical illness." He noted that the court had established Littlestown National Bank as Merle Gitt's guardian during his life and holds that Edna Albert and George Parr were "agents of the Littlestown National Bank" to care for Merle Gitt.

ing because what she knew was "hearsay."

Mrs. Martin said Young appeared "awful upset and nervous and sat there mumbling" at the time he alleged he subpoenaed the two.

Young in his testimony admitted he had been nervous when he sought to read the subpoena to the two waitresses. He was asked whether he spoke any more loudly when he read to the waitresses than he spoke in court. Young was not sure that he had, but thought he had spoken loudly enough to be heard.

Testimony of all was that Young had been to the restaurant a number of times to ask the two women to testify and they had refused. As a result, he had secured the subpoena.

In its verdict the court indicated the belief that Young had attempted to issue the subpoena but that technically the subpoena was not issued due to apparent failure to make the waitresses understand the nature of the paper. Young also testified that he had telephoned Mrs. Martin on December 26, which she denied. Young said: "Whoever answered said she was Mrs. Martin."

Littlestown ST. ALOYSIUS IS FILLED FOR MISSION'S END

St. Aloysius Catholic Church was filled to capacity for the solemn closing of the parish mission held on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in charge of the Rev. Basil Lynch, director of missions at the Franciscan Monastery, Loretto, who preached the sermons and gave the instructions at each of the services during the last week. The mission opened last Sunday evening.

The closing service was a Holy Hour with Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament at the beginning. The rosary was recited by priest and people after which Father Lynch spoke on "The Blessed Sacrament." He said that "the life of the Catholic Church is the reproduction of the life of Christ; the Church is His mystical body. The central fact of His life was to sacrifice Himself on Calvary; the all important fact in the church is the sacrifice He makes of Himself in the Blessed Sacrament."

The renewal of baptismal vows by all present followed the sermon and the missionary priest imparted the papal blessing. The pastor, the Rev. William A. Boyle, spoke briefly, noting that he has invited Father Lynch to return for the next parish mission in three years, because of the response and comments heard during this mission. Father Lynch also gave the last parish mission three years ago.

Miss Budde Sings
Miss A. Marie Budde sang the "Panis Angelicus" as a vocal solo. Benediction hymns were sung by the senior choir and the service closed with the traditional hymn of praise "Holy God." Miss Anna C. Weaver presided at the console.

On Sunday morning at the 10 o'clock high mass, the blessing of the palms took place, after which they were distributed and all in the church participated in the Palm Sunday procession. The cross bearer for the procession was Robert Miller; Allen Ernst and Ronald Redding were acolytes; Laurence Altoff was censor bearer and James Long, holy water bearer. All statues and crucifixes in the church are covered with purple cloth during Passiontide, which began on Passion Sunday, and will remain covered until the Holy Saturday Vigil.

Services This Week
There will be no instructions for high school students or adults this evening. Mass on Tuesday and Wednesday will begin at 8:15 a.m. The Passion of Christ, according to St. Matthew, was read at the Palm Sunday mass. The Passion

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times
ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Commencing Work: Mr. Helm, the contractor of the Gettysburg Gas Works, is about commencing operations actively. Workmen have been engaged in digging for the foundations of the buildings for several days; and the street trenches will be started in a day or two.
We are requested to say that Mr. Helm will also attend to the Gas Fitting business, and has brought with him from Philadelphia a number of excellent mechanics for that purpose. He proposes to work in the best manner and at moderate prices. He asks calls from those interested and expects soon to have a large variety of chandeliers, brackets, etc. on hand.

Mammoth Bees: Daniel Geiselman, Esq., of Union township (one of the County Commissioners) is now feeding a pair of steers which are attracting a little attention in that quarter. They were weighed on the cattle scales recently and the heaviest, but three years old, reached 2,000 pounds; the other 1,800 pounds. Mr. G. has eight others fattening, running from 1,200 to 1,450 pounds live weight. We are told by a friend that the equal of this "drove" is rarely to be seen upon any farm, all being "beauties."

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
From The East End: People are still talking about the cold winter. The ground was frozen to the depth of thirty inches. Pumps, cisterns and water pipes, that successfully endured the cold were frozen during this. The foundations of buildings erected years ago were for the first time this winter raised and injured by the frost. The winter of 1884-1885 will be remembered as of unusual severity.

The grass plots and fields are beginning to put on their livery of green. The leaf and fruit buds are reddening. The early maples are bursting into blossom. Vegetation is awakening from its long sleep, and in a few short weeks the face of nature will have undergone a great change. Welcome!

Local Flashes: Gettysburg is now having a considerable and entirely safe building boom.
The letter box put up at the new depot is a good thing.
The ice, heavy as it was, moved from the rivers and creeks without causing any damage worth mentioning.

Historical Visit: Mr. J. H. Stine, Historian of the First Army Corps, Col. J. R. Thompson and Major N. B. Prentice, all of Washington, made a flying visit to the battlefield on Saturday evening, returning by special train on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Stine stated that the turn out of Veterans and others on the occasion of the historical visit to Gettysburg May 4th and 5th will certainly be very large, embracing thousands of people; and that only the most important public business will prevent President Cleveland from coming. He is deeply interested in the meeting, and desires to see on the field many of those who participated in the battle.

Buehlers' Drug Store Burned: About 1 o'clock on Wednesday morning Policemen Myers and Rupp noticed a few sparks issuing from one of the chimneys of Buehler's drug store, on Chambersburg street, near the public square. They aroused Mr. A. D. Buehler, residing in the building, and then discovered the whole of the large and well-stocked drug and book room to be on fire. The store was entirely burned out and a sad looking wreck it presented. It is very evident that the prompt action of the police and a few other citizens, and a large water supply from the new works prevented a greater disaster.

Timely Hints: On resetting the rail fences this spring, do the work so that it will not have to be done over again next spring.

Today's Talk

CARRY A KINDLY FRONT
Little do we realize the power and influence a person wields who carries a kindly front, no matter what secret problems he may have. That kindly front brands him so that his influence precedes him and all people want to meet such a figure. How can we become happy, or prove to others the way to a genuine success, if we don't exemplify it from day to day?

You can pick out such a person as I have suggested, if you will. You can carry that kindly front with you whenever you go. Others will note you upon the busy street among crowds and especially if they are influenced by this kindly front and want to own it! You can inherit so much after you have demonstrated this kindly front, and displayed it far! It is the key to an attractive personality, and it will bless your own life right now! We need co-partnership to give us courage, patience, and faith in ourselves.

Carry a kindly front. It will be your main staff, when used to conquer a difficult task. We need God as our kindly front. A kindly front is worth more than all the gold of the richest in mere money.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Heart Prosperity"

That come stealing through the brain,
Thoughts of greater victories
That the spirit shall attain.

In this week of holy prayer

Suffering all earthly pain,
Taught us death is not a loss,
But a victory and a gain.

EX-PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE IS FOUND SLAIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police say a husky young ex-carnival worker who admitted beating and strangling a former university president in a cheap-rate hotel seems "totally unconcerned about the whole thing."

Capt. Lawrence Hartnett, chief of the homicide squad, said 21-year-old Bobbie Richard Van Over admitted choking to death David B. Owen, 31, after first beating his face beyond recognition.

Owen, former president of Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., was manager of the Santa Cruz, Calif., Chamber of Commerce at the time of his death. He had come here to testify before a congressional committee in support of a small craft harbor at Santa Cruz.

Registered At Better Hotel
Owen's nude body was found Thursday in a third-floor walkup room of a downtown hotel 10 blocks from the Capitol. He was registered at a better hotel. The body was identified through FBI fingerprint files.

Owen resigned as president of Bradley eight years ago after a basketball fix scandal involving members of the university team. He was married and had no children.

Van Over, 6 feet 4, was arrested Friday through a tip. Police said the informant told them Van Over showed his battered fists and said "Boy, did I work that guy over."

Van Over was held without bail on a first-degree murder charge. Van Over said he and his 18-year-old wife, Lois, had come here from Tampa, Fla., about three weeks ago.

DEATH TRAPS ON PA. ROADS TO BE REMOVED

By FRED WALTERS
HARRISBURG (AP)—A program aimed at eliminating Pennsylvania's highway death traps will be launched soon, the Highways Department said today.

"We want to pinpoint those areas where we have a high accident rate," said Edmund R. Ricker, Traffic Engineering Bureau director. "By channelling traffic cutting back view obstructions and things like that, we hope to make them safer."

Ricker's bureau is being expanded to bring in traffic engineers and technicians to carry out the campaign.

Research "Spotty"
"Our research in this field has been very spotty in the past," said a department spokesman. He added: "We've never made a concentrated effort to locate places where there is a high accident rate. The idea is these engineers can go over the reports and collect statistics, pinpointing these areas."

"They will recommend corrective measures such as overpasses or interchanges, even traffic lights where there's something obstructing the view and causing the accident, that would be removed."

Safety engineering has picked up new emphasis in the department since Gov. Lawrence made highway safety a major program of his administration.

Better Markings
The emphasis has been directed toward:
—Better marking of highways with larger, reflectorized signs.
—Painting white lines on the edges of all roads 20 feet or more in width.

—Standardization of centerline markings—a double solid line indicating a no-passing zone; a broken line marking a passing zone; and a combination of each indicating passing permitted by traffic in one direction only.

—New specifications for traffic protection on road construction jobs.

Longer Passing Zone
Production of traffic signs here has been doubled, Ricker said. About 50,000 signs are produced a year. Some additional 800,000 route and direction signs also are turned out. Roads carrying an average 800 vehicles a day have been getting priority for new markings, Ricker said.

New trucks that can paint a centerline and an edge line simultaneously have been put into service in each of the 11 highway districts.

Another change motivated by the highway safety program increased the no-passing zone standard from 500 feet to 800 feet.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Monessen High School carried off the volleyball crown and Munnhall High won the rifle shoot championship in separate state PIAA tournaments here Saturday.

Monessen won for the second straight year over Peabody of Pittsburgh in the championship match of the double-elimination volleyball competition. Peabody's two tournament losses were to Monessen. The champions clinched the title with 15-7, 15-7 performances to stay undefeated.

Great Britain, which has no natural gas resources, is experimenting with five new methods of producing synthetic gas.

rival at Cooper Hospital, Camden. The injured all in serious condition, are Earl Newkirk, 18, Raymond Alexander, 17, both of Bordentown; Theodore Grace, 21, of Roebling; and William Green, 24, of East Riverton.

Police said the car was driven by Carter.

An old story had to be retold recently — the story of AP's Pulitzer Prize picture of Marines raising the Stars and Stripes on Iwo Jima. A TV dramatization of the life of Ira Hayes, a Pima Indian who was one of six Marines in the picture, completely distorted the truth by having the actor portraying Hayes say "Everybody knew the picture was a phony."

Even with due allowance for dramatic license, this was going far afield. The obvious implication was that the famous picture taken by Joe Rosenthal was faked or posed. Any such charge is demonstrably false.

The basic facts are these:

(1) There were two flag-raising atop Mt. Suribachi on February 23, 1945, and no one least of all the Marines, the AP, Rosenthal and others present, ever suggested anything to the contrary. Rosenthal's picture was taken during the second flag-raising, the purpose of which was to raise a bigger banner while the battle for Iwo Jima still was going on. AP dispatches at the time reported both flag-raising in the order of their occurrence. An AP story on February 24 — the day Wirephoto distributed Rosenthal's photo — told how the big flag replaced the little one.

(2) There was nothing posed, re-enacted, rehearsed or artificial about either flag-raising. The ranks of participants were cut sharply by Japanese gunfire during the following few days. Three of the six men in Rosenthal's photograph were killed in combat. Hayes whose life story was depicted on TV, died in 1955. It's a footnote of record that Hayes was quoted after the war as describing the flag-raising quite in contrast with the TV script, to wit: He didn't know photographers (three, including Rosenthal) were present until after the second flag went up. Louis Lowery the Marine sergeant who photographed the first flag-raising, told the Washington Star last week that Rosenthal's picture "definitely was not a phony... certainly not posed."

So much for the facts, long-documented, often published and well known generally — especially to anyone who was there or saw the film of the flag-raising which Rosenthal photographed, or otherwise checked the historical record.

There have been a score of publisher commentaries on the TV show ranging from bland acceptance of the "phony" label to more careful background reporting — including AP's prompt rebuttal — and a suggestion by one (Jack Gould of the New York Times) that "the coast-to-coast implication that a historic moment in the nation's life was posed may not be readily forgotten, particularly when viewing the Marine Memorial" in Washington.

The Marine general in command of the Iwo Jima operation, now retired in La Jolla, Calif., reacted characteristically. Lt. Gen. Holland M. (Howlin' Mad) Smith told the Los Angeles Examiner that anyone who Rochester wrapped up its semifinal with the Cleveland Barons Sunday night with a history-making 4-1 victory. The Amerks took the series four games to three after losing the first three. No other team in the 24-year history of the AHL ever came from an 0-3 deficit and won a playoff series.

Providence Is Out
Springfield, which eliminated Providence four games to one, in the other semifinal, will have the advantage of the home ice for the first two games. The first two will be played in Springfield Wednesday and Saturday nights. The third is scheduled for Rochester next Sunday and the fourth also in Rochester either Tuesday, April 19, or Wednesday, April 20. Dates for the other games, if necessary, have not been arranged.

Kennedy Leads Temple To 17-2 Win Over Bullets; Albright Here On Tuesday

A pair of home runs by Bill "Pickles" Kennedy and eight Gettysburg errors allowed the Temple Owls (4-0) to romp over Bob Hult's Bullet baseball team 17-2 Saturday afternoon in Philadelphia, before a small crowd. It was the fourth straight loss for the winless Bullets.

Following the second inning the contest turned into a wide open affair which included nine errors, nine extra base hits and 10 walks. They got on base five times via walks and were struck out 16 times by junior hurler Jim Craig.

Kennedy, who received national recognition as a basketball player, proved his worth as a diamond athlete. After grounding out in the initial frame, the versatile player belted the first pitch over the left field fence with two mates aboard in the third inning to push the Owls in front 3-0. The center fielder came right back to lead off the fifth with another first toms wallop in the same spot for his second four bagger.

Kennedy went on to beat out an infield single for three for four for the afternoon including three runs scored and six runs batted in.

Bullets Break Ice
Gettysburg's lone scores came in the top of the fifth. Connie Youse got on via an infield miscue, Simpson grounded out sending Youse to third. Burnett followed out to the catcher followed by Jeff Kahler's long double to left. Another double by Ken Fruchter to right enabled Kahler to come home for the second run.

Temple scored seven times in the bottom of the seventh on three hits, three walks and four costly errors. The Owls went on to tally their final three runs in the eighth on a pair of doubles by Tom Donahue and Mike Gold, a single by Dick Kessel and another Bullet bobble.

Donahue, Gold, Herb Gordon and Walt Chyzowich finished second to Kennedy with a pair of hits each. Bruce Simpson topped the Bullet list with a pair of safeties including a double in the seventh. Jim Craig went the distance for the winners to rack up his second victory in as many decisions. Bruce Simpson started for Gettysburg but needed help from Mel Jacobs in the seventh. Simpson was the loser.

3 Home Games
Gettysburg will return to its home field to play seven of its next eight games. On Tuesday the Bullets will entertain Albright. Johns Hopkins will be here Thursday and Dickinson on Saturday.

EXHIBITION SEASON TITLE WON BY CARDS
By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals are the National League champs of the exhibition baseball season and when Manager Solly Hemus cautions "don't underestimate us" it might be time to listen.

Seventh and woeiful with a porous defense, erratic pitching and little batting punch in 1959, the rejuvenated Cards head into Tuesday's NL opener at San Francisco after ringing up an 18-8 spring record.

While the exhibition season is sometimes about as helpful as second guessing Sunday's weather the Cards have been an eye-popping revelation to all who have seen them this spring.

Stronger Pitching
There is added pitching in ex-pirate Ronnie Kline and young Bob Miller, more sock with Daryl Spencer, Bob Nieman, Leon Wagner and a comebacking Stan Mu-

GENE BAKER TO PLAY FOR BUGS; HURT IN 1958

MYERS, Fla. (AP) — It was a hot Sunday afternoon in July, 1958. The scene was Busch Stadium in St. Louis. The Cards were battling the Pittsburgh Pirates.

A St. Louis batter laid down a neat bunt. Pirate third baseman Gene Baker charged the ball. Suddenly he collapsed.

Baker tore the cartilage and muscle matter in his left knee. Doctors said Baker might never play baseball again. Gene thought that way, too.

But today, Gene is under contract with the Pirates again. "At first I thought I'd never play ball again," related Baker. "Heck, before they put my knee back where it should be, I could move the kneecap around like a checkerboard."

Once Baker was back on his feet though, he decided he wanted to play baseball again. "I did a lot of work on the knee during the winter, but none of the work that is connected with playing ball," said the 34-year-old Baker.

Baker gives a lot of credit for his dramatic comeback to Dr. Jay Bender of Carbondale, Ill. He visited Dr. Bender last January and was given exercises with weights, wires and pulleys to strengthen the knee.

Following the treatments, he went to the Pirates' training camp here to give his knee the test. It held up and now he's playing. Baker, who served as a coach and a scout for the Pirates last year, will be the team's No. 1 utility infielder this season, according to Manager Danny Murtaugh.

BROWN EDGES BULLETS IN LACROSSE 8-7

A pair of goals by Bill Enman and George Gilson in the final period of play gave the Bears of Brown University a thrilling 8-7 win over a much improved Gettysburg College lacrosse team, Saturday afternoon on the Bullets' field.

Goals by Dick Smith and Ken Tholan in the initial frame knotted the count at 2-2, but Brown came fighting back in the second stanza with four tallies while Gettysburg's Dick Smith accounted for the Bullets' lone point. At intermission the Bears held a 6-3 advantage.

Coach Daniel Biernie's stickmen caught fire in the third quarter to blank their opponents 3-0 on a duo of goals by Henry Abbott and Wayne Yohe's single shot. With the score tied 6-6 going into the final frame, Brown rammed through its two winning points while Yohe accounted for Gettysburg's lone shot.

Gettysburg, now 0-2 on the season, will travel to Carlisle on Wednesday to tangle with Dickinson.

Score by quarters:
Brown — 2 4 0 2-8
Gettysburg — 2 1 3 1-7
Goals: Brown — Booley 3, Dillmeyer 2, Enman, Gilson 2, Gettysburg — Abbott 2, Smith 2, Tholan 1, Yohe 2.

sial, and a healthier defense with Spencer at short and Musial's aging legs at first base instead of the outfield.

Add these to the few good carry-over features from last year's club—pitchers like Larry Jackson, Ernie Broglio, Lindy McDaniel and Vinegar Bend Mizell, and steady hitters Joe Cunningham, Bill White and Ken Boyer, and there is reason for Hemus' optimism.

Cubs Bow For 18th
Broglio (7 innings) and Gibson handled the pitching and Musial had three hits Sunday as the Cards posted victory No. 18, 5-2 over the Chicago Cubs at Las Vegas. The Cubs played without ace shortstop Ernie Banks, who suffered a bloody nose in a pepper game workout.

In other Sunday games, which wound up the warm-up season for the Nationals, Los Angeles whipped San Francisco 8-4 at Sacramento, Cincinnati's four first-inning runs clipped Milwaukee 4-2 at Louisville, Pittsburgh edged Kansas City 3-2 at Fort Myers, Fla., Baltimore blanked Philadelphia 5-0 at Miami, the New York Yankees stopped the Chicago White Sox on a one-hitter 11-0 at Tampa, Cleveland edged Boston 9-8 in New Orleans, and Washington beat Detroit 5-4 at Lakeland, Fla.

WISCONSIN U. BOXER IS NEAR DEATH TODAY

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Intercollegiate boxing, a target of sniping attacks by bitter opponents for many years, faced a rocky future today as a 22-year-old University of Wisconsin senior lay near death with a brain injury suffered in a national championship bout.

A dwindling crops of college boxing supporters braced for an expected renewal of demands for abolishment of the sport while Charlie Mohr of Merrick, N.Y., battled for his life in the University of Wisconsin Hospitals.

Mohr, a 1959 champion kayaker in defense of his title by Stu Bartell of San Jose State Saturday night, was reported in critical condition after emergency surgery for a brain hemorrhage.

Officials Stunned
The injury stunned officials, coaches and fighters from 17 colleges in the three-day 23rd annual National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament at the Wisconsin fieldhouse.

"It makes me sick," said Coach Julie Menendez of San Jose State's team champions. "I didn't think Stu hit him that hard."
"This is ironic as Charlie was symbolic of all that is fine in college boxing," said Wisconsin's distraught Coach Vern Woodward. "He was a terrific boxer who seldom got hit."

Sport Has Dwindled
Under constant fire by opponents, the sport has dwindled in colleges in virtually every section of the country except the Far West. Only a handful of the 60 entrants, with the exception of host Wisconsin, represented schools east of the Rockies.

Just a year ago, a 19-year-old Texas A & M sophomore, Curtis Raymond Lyons, died from injuries suffered in a fight with Fred White of Sam Houston College.

National League Opens 1960 Season On Tuesday

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
The National League begins its long run for the pennant, a probable three-way struggle between the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, San Francisco and Milwaukee, Tuesday while the American League has a week to go on its exhibition treadmill.

Major League baseball tries out its first split opening with Pittsburgh at Milwaukee, (2:30 p.m. EST), Philadelphia at Cincinnati, (2:30 p.m.) St. Louis at San Francisco (4:30 p.m.) and, in a night game, the Chicago Cubs at Los Angeles (11 p.m.).

The American League, with all eight clubs still playing games in Florida that don't count, opens next Monday with the Washington Senators getting their traditional one-day jump on the rest of the league.

The Giants, favored to win the NL pennant after picking up pitching to back their power, also open their new 15-million-dollar ballpark, Candlestick Park, Manager Bill Rigney, his pitching staff padded with the acquisition of left-hander Billy O'Dell and right-handed reliever Billy Loes from Baltimore, picked his ace right-hander, Sam (Avalanche) Jones, to face the Cardinals' Larry Jackson.

Jones had a 21-15 record last year. Jackson was 14-13.

The Dodgers, with Manager Walt Alston picking right-hander Don Drysdale (17-13), will field the same line-up that swept the best-of-three playoff from Milwaukee and then whipped the Chicago White Sox in a six-game World Series. Right-hander Bob Anderson (12-13) will start for the Cubs as Charlie Grimm begins another shot as manager.

Spahn For Braves
It's Warren (The Wonder) Spahn for Milwaukee and new Manager Chuck Dressen against Philadelphia right-hander Bob Friend. Spahn, 39, is the winningest pitcher still at work in the NL and the top all-time winner among left-handers in the league. He'll be after his 26th victory after putting away his fourth straight season of 20 or more (21-15) last year.

Friend, who shared the lead with Spahn for most victories in 1958 (22), then led the National in defeats last season, will be hoping for a better start than last year, when he lost his first seven and finished with an 8-19 record.

Roberts For Phillies
Cincinnati, opening at Crosley Field as usual, will send either Cal McLish or Jim Brosnan, both right-handers, against the Phillies and right-hander Robin Roberts.

MOUNT LACES CATHOLIC 14-5

Mt. St. Mary's scored three times in the first and second innings and went on for an easy 14-5 victory over Catholic University at Emmitsburg Saturday afternoon. The Mounts are now 1-0 while Catholic is 1-2.

Jack Burdian was the hitting star for the Mounts, belting a triple and single in three trips and driving in three runs. Today the Mount meets American University at Washington and on Tuesday engages Rider at Emmitsburg.

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Roger Ward sped to victory in a 100-mile big-car race Sunday.

Ward, winner of the Indianapolis Speedway Classic, dominated the Trenton speedway event, averaging 95.486 miles per hour. A blowout spilled Ralph Ligouri, of Tampa, Fla. Ligouri, whose left shoulder was broken, said, "I'm finished with racing. I'm going out and get a job."

McLish, who last pitched in the NL in 1951 for the Cubs, was a 1948 ace with Cleveland last season. Brosnan was 9-6.

This will be Roberts' 11th consecutive opening day assignment for the Phils. Robin (15-17) has won five, lost four of those inaugurals, missing the decision in the other.

With help from the weatherman, the National League should set an opening day attendance record of 165,000-plus. The Dodgers, still playing in the Coliseum, may draw 50,000. The Giants expect a capacity crowd of 42,549 in their new park. Milwaukee hopes for 43,000 and Cincinnati 31,000.

TROTTERS GET CHAMBERLAIN TO MAKE TOUR

CHICAGO (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain will join the Harlem Globetrotters June 1 in Paris, France, to complete a basketball tour of Europe, the Middle East and North Africa.

Abe Saperstein, owner of the Trotters, in making the announcement today said Chamberlain, however, has not decided if he will accept a $125,000 offer to play with the Trotters during their regular 1960-61 season.

Chamberlain, a 7-2 star, quit the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Assn. last month. He played one game with the Globetrotters after that.

Following the game, Saperstein announced he offered Wilt $125,000 to play with the Trotters next season but Chamberlain wanted to "think about it."

"Actually," said Saperstein, who had been in telephone contact with Chamberlain over the week-end, "little has been discussed between us about the possibility of Wilt joining the Trotters next season."

Chamberlain played with the Trotters the 1958-59 season for a reported $65,000 before joining the Warriors for $35,000 and re-writing the NBA record book.

CELTICS WIN 2ND STRAIGHT CROWN IN NBA

BOSTON (AP)—The record-setting Boston Celtics gave basketball buffs at least two questions to ponder when they marked up their second straight world title Saturday.

Is this the No. 1 basketball team in history?
How long can the Celtics keep it up?

First Repeat Title
Boston wrapped up its second straight National Basketball Assn. title and third in four seasons with a 122-103 victory over St. Louis in the seventh game of the final playoffs.

It was the first time an NBA team had repeated as champions since Minneapolis, then in the George Mikan era, won three straight in 1952, 1953 and 1954.

Boston coach Red Auerbach snorted: "Mikan may have been the player of the half-century, but if he was around now he wouldn't even be No. 1 in the league. Bill Russell would run the legs off George."

"Greatest Ever"
"I think this ball club is the greatest aggregation ever assembled," said Auerbach.

Many critics agree. One point in favor is the record 59 victories chalked up by Boston in a 75-game schedule last season. The best Minneapolis did in its hey-day was 48-22 in 1952-53.

Whatever their rank, the Celtics now must look toward next season, and there are several questions.

How long can the back court duo of Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman keep up their breakneck pace?

Questions Ahead
How long will Gene Conley continue his double role as a substitute cornerman-center for the Celtics and pitcher for the baseball Philadelphia Phillies?

There seems to be no doubt that Russell, Tommy Heinsohn, Frank Ramsey and the Jones boys, Sam and K. C. will return but Sharman will be 34 next month and Cousy 32 before next season opens.

Conley, the tough, 6-foot-8 reserve, indicated in midseason that he may forsake his role as the only athlete competing on major league teams in two sports. At the end of the season, however, he said he wasn't considering retiring.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

THE HOLLAND DUTCH AND FRENCH HUGUENOTS

When the Rev. Dr. Demarest, of the local Presbyterian Church (Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian), did his preliminary research on the Low Dutch Settlement of the Conewago he contacted many of the descendants of the original settlers in that colony. Rev. Demarest's notes are on file in the New Jersey Historical Society and extracts from this column are herewith presented in this column as follows:—

"Old Peter Van Arsdale was scalped in his own clearing and a Banta was taken prisoner and carried into the wilderness.

"There was a Captain Simon Van Arsdale in the Revolutionary Army and his company was largely made up of his own people. Also a Captain William Houghtelin, under whom his brother Abraham Houghtelin served as a private, also a Captain Brinkerhoff."

Note:— Captain Wilhelmus Houghtelin is buried with his wife and other members of his family in the "Lower" Dutch burial ground. At the present time the graves are unmarked.

Raise British Flag

"When the British moved out of New York City someone put up the British flag, cut the halyards, and greased the pole just before the troops pulled out in the harbor. Captain John Van Arsdale volunteered to climb up and pull down the British flag and put the American flag in its place. This he did—with a great deal of difficulty.

"Magdalena Brokaw, whose father and brothers were in the Revolutionary Army, had her thumbs ground in British gunlocks at sixteen because she refused to give information regarding her relatives.

"Among the first of the New Jersey colonists to locate in York County (now Adams), Pennsylvania, was James Pettit, whose ancestor was one of the early Huguenots refugees in New Jersey. An industrious and hard worker, James Pettit, by 1740, possessed a considerable estate on the Conewago. He (James Pettit) died in 1771 at an advanced age. Abraham La Rue, who died in 1757, and Adam de Gormois, Huguenot pioneers from New Jersey, were also among the early settlers in York County.

Descendant Of Refugee

"David Demarest (Demaree) was born in 1731 and died in 1803. He was a descendant of a Huguenot refugee of the same name, born in Beauchamp, France, in 1620. The first David Demaree came to New York in 1663—because of religious persecution."

Note:— The "Conewago" David Demaree is buried in the "Upper" Low Dutch Graveyard and the old black slate marker at his grave is still in good condition. An outline of Demaree genealogy will be given in a future column.

"Frederick Banta was the grandson of Professor Ephe Banta, a Dutch colonist who died at Schrollenberg in 1719.

"John Bodine, who died at Conewago in 1776, at a very advanced age, was the grandson of a Huguenot refugee, Jean Bodine, who died on Long Island, New York, 1695. In 1794 George Brokaw died at Conewago. George Brokaw's ancestor was Pierre Brokaw, a French refugee, who located in New York prior to 1680.

Served As Officers

"Andre Riddett, who died in 1776, was another early settler at Conewago; Michael le Boob, who died in 1781, was another York County pioneer. Adam de Gormois died in 1772; Cornelius Corsine in 1786; Peter Corsine, his brother, in 1779.

"Peter Montfort, the progenitor of a noble family, died quite aged in 1769. Many members of the Montfort family are buried in the 'Upper' Low Dutch graveyard.

"Three men from the 'Low Dutch Settlement of the Conewago' served as officers in the Continental Army during the war of the American Revolution, namely Simon Van Arsdale, William Houghtaling (Houghtelin) and George Brinkerhoff."

ABANDON ALL FOR PACT ON DISARMAMENT

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials have about given up hope of breaking the new deadlock in disarmament negotiations with the Soviet Union prior to next month's summit conference.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter thinks that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may be planning to come up with "some kind of idea" at the Paris summit meeting to get negotiations moving again. But he finds the present situation "puzzling."

Herter appears to be trying to build up Western pressure to prevent the Soviet Union from stirring up a new Berlin crisis at the summit by linking the Berlin issue with the possibility of successful disarmament negotiations.

He told a news conference Friday a big East-West clash at the summit over Berlin might very materially prejudice further progress on disarmament, specifically the nuclear test ban problem.

That was the second time he had issued such a warning. In a Chicago speech last Monday he said the Western powers "can hardly move forward confidently in negotiating new arms control agreements with the Soviet Union if our existing agreements with them about Berlin meanwhile are being violated or threatened with violation."

Herter disclosed that the deadlocked 10-nation disarmament conference at Geneva probably will be recessed soon until after the summit gathering which opens May 16.

He said the Soviets have informally told the West that they would like to take a long recess beginning probably around the end of April and running into June. The Western powers are willing to take a shorter recess, he said.

Three bullets struck Irvin Brownawell, 30. He died an hour later in a hospital.

Brownawell went to the West Philadelphia apartment of Mrs. Lena Shelley, 72, Friday night to see his estranged wife, Anna, also 30, who was visiting there.

He brought with him a rifle and shotgun, wrapped in a blanket. His wife said she left him last Monday because he had repeatedly threatened her.

The women said an argument started and they fled to a neighbor's apartment and called police. Meanwhile, John Craig, a plumber, was working on the sink in Mrs. Shelley's apartment, unaware of anything more serious than an argument.

Let's Look At The Record

TRUMAN ON PRIMARIES
Party Leaders Still Pick The Candidate
Hill Makes His First Fearless Forecast

By JIM DAN HILL
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

IN WISCONSIN the Presidential Preference primary was drawing to a close when ex-President Truman got into a philosophical mood. In effect, he said state primaries are worthless.

Few people in Wisconsin will entirely agree. It was in this state that the elder LaFollette crusaded for and sold the idea as a device for taking party nominations from the hands of the party bosses. Insofar as the State of Wisconsin is concerned, LaFollette was successful—within limits.

The spread of those limits is always good for an argument. But it usually ends in the agreement that Wisconsin is more free of political bossism than most other states.

But what Mr. Truman could have had in mind was the oft stated concept that the bosses usually pick a better man than do the people in the most free of primaries.

It must be admitted party bosses have picked some extremely good men; beginning with George Washington and ending with—yes, ending with Mr. Truman! In the case of Eisenhower, he chose the party. He could have won as a Democrat. A most rare phenomenon in American political history.

MAN IS SLAIN AFTER POINTING GUN AT POLICE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—While a plumber worked on the kitchen sink, a factory worker walked into the kitchen with a shotgun and was shot down by a policeman.

Three bullets struck Irvin Brownawell, 30. He died an hour later in a hospital.

Brownawell went to the West Philadelphia apartment of Mrs. Lena Shelley, 72, Friday night to see his estranged wife, Anna, also 30, who was visiting there.

He brought with him a rifle and shotgun, wrapped in a blanket. His wife said she left him last Monday because he had repeatedly threatened her.

The women said an argument started and they fled to a neighbor's apartment and called police. Meanwhile, John Craig, a plumber, was working on the sink in Mrs. Shelley's apartment, unaware of anything more serious than an argument.

Pointed Shotgun

Patrolmen Ralph Taylor and Gene White said that when they entered the apartment Brownawell walked into the kitchen from a bedroom and pointed the shotgun at them.

Taylor said he ducked behind the refrigerator and fired three times. Craig tried to hide in the sink. It was all over in a matter of seconds, the patrolmen said.

The Brownawells came to this city two months ago from Carlisle, Cumberland County, where Brownawell had worked in a shoe factory. They had two sons, Michael, 6, and Dennis, 3.

$50,000 BAIL FOR SUSPECT IN BURGLARY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John C. Berkery, 26, described as the leader of a six-member gang that burglarized the home of a Pottsville, Pa., coal operator, has been returned from Camden, N. J.

Berkery, of Westmont, N. J., waived extradition proceedings Friday. He surrendered Thursday to Camden police.

Bail of $50,000 was set by Camden Municipal Judge Julius Sklar despite objections by Berkery's lawyer, Salvatore J. Avens.

Avens noted that Mrs. Lillian Reis, 30, Philadelphia night club owner and former dancer, had been released on $10,000 bail after a hearing in Pottsville. Three others were released in Pottsville on lesser bail. One could not meet bail.

Fear Escape

Berkery and the others are charged with larceny and burglary at the home of John B. Rich, president of the Gilberton Coal Co. Rich has said only $3,500 in cash was taken from a safe while he and his wife were in Europe last summer. But police have estimated the loot at $375,000 or more, mostly cash.

Arguing for the high bail, Pennsylvania authorities said they feared Berkery, 26, might flee from the area.

Meanwhile, Capt. Clarence Ferguson disclosed that Berkery and one of the others arrested early in the week, Vincent Blaney, 26, of Philadelphia are free in $3,000 bail on charges of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods in another case.

According to a grand jury indictment, they were caught inside the American Business Corp. office here last June 12.

TEN HAVANA NEWSPAPERS CLOSE DOORS

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—The revolutionary Cuba of Fidel Castro has become a journalistic graveyard for the nation's independent Spanish-language press.

Ten of Havana's 14 independent newspapers refusing to toe the Castro line have folded in the past few months.

Veteran Cuban newsmen predict the remaining four, struggling under constant government and economic pressures, soon will collapse, leaving the field to Castro organs.

The bearded Prime Minister has no press opposition in Cuba outside Havana. Independent papers in the provinces disappeared almost as fast as ex-President Fulgencio Batista's army.

Hear Some Outlets
American newspapers and demonstrate vote pulling power. More fail than succeed. It is an expensive and dangerous risk. Meanwhile, the party leaders, except for an occasional outburst like Mr. Truman's, remain silent. But as the primaries progress, the top bosses talk more and more.

The cautious betting men will be paying more attention to the utterances of the bosses than to the primary election returns.

AND WHO are the bosses? Was that your question? Any ex-President of recent vintage is ex officio a boss within his party, whether he admits it or even wants to be. So is every U.S. senator.

Mr. Truman's remark and Senator Mansfield's recent comments were probably more significant straws in the wind than the recent primary returns from both New Hampshire and Wisconsin.

This reviewer thinks these and others add up to Lyndon B. Johnson having more delegates on the first ballot in Los Angeles next July than any other single candidate. Symington or Stevenson could come from behind to win the nomination. Kennedy could get the nod for second place, which, the way he feels now, he will refuse.

But this is merely the season's first fearless forecast. This reviewer reserves the right to revise his fearlessness as more and more Democratic party wheel horses sound off. Meanwhile, the Republican leaders have already sounded off—for Nixon.

magazines still are available and a few Florida radio stations can be heard here. So can the Voice of America by those owning short-wave radios.

But these primarily are foreign language outlets and are considered inconsequential alongside the government's vast propaganda machine—most of the press and 80 radio and television stations throughout the island.

Havana has two English-language newspapers, the biweekly Times and the Daily Post. Only the Times occasionally needles Castro.

Even in normal times, newsman claim, there is insufficient advertising money to support more than two or three large dailies in Havana.

Subsidize Some Papers
How, under a continuing business recession, do the revolutionary papers get by?

Informed sources say the Castro regime spends a million dollars annually to keep five Havana pro-government papers in business.

These are El Mundo, Combate, Avance, La Calle and the semi-official Revolucion. All operate from plants taken over from the original owners after Castro seized power.

They are helped considerably by advertisements from government agencies or business enterprises operated by the government.

These people (The Dutch and French Huguenots) moved westward in a caravan of 150 families and some seven hundred souls to Conewago, York (now Adams) County, Pennsylvania. Arrived at their destination they built churches and made farms. From Conewago, some years later, still restless with the pioneer spirit, two lines of settlers moved—one to the Genesee country and the other to Kentucky.

The Low Dutch Settlement in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania, extended from about two miles east of Hunterstown, from a point near Pines Church, in a southwesterly direction crossing what is now the Lincoln Highway East, near Dutta's Station, extending along a dismal road to the Baltimore Pike and down the pike to what is now Two Taverns, with a few scattered farms west of the pike. Near either end of the settlement are the Low Dutch Burial Grounds and in both there are many graves but few markers.

The historical and genealogical study of the Low Dutch Settlement and burial grounds will be continued in this column next week.

The Hallowed House

the barefoot swarms from the Akra, and at night, by His covert seclusion.

How long could He walk this narrow ledge, unfailing? The widow paused to straighten a fresh-hung drapery at the door of the atrium, or main hall. How long before her own role was found out, and denounced?

That part did not matter so much, except on account of her son, John Mark. She bit her lip, and hurried on down a corridor toward the rear of the house.

Few among her genteel associates knew that she was a supporter of the roaming carpenter of Nazareth. Nor was this dignified neighborhood of magistrates, priests and rich merchants aware that she gave refuge to the disturbers.

There may have been some gossip or suspicions. She had noticed a group of closely cowed scribes watching her gateway from across the street. But there had been no questioning or interference, not yet.

They Came In Darkness

The clandestine visitors came only in late darkness, slipping in unobserved.

And she had been prudent. She had cautioned the Galilean women staying there for the week—Jesus' mother, Mary, her sister, Salome, Mary of Magdala and others—to beware of prying peddlers.

In the larder, they and the servants worked at scouring the ordinary utensils, storing them away, and polishing the special Passover dishes for use. Others kneaded and rolled unleavened wheat dough for the matzos.

Some were already in the brick oven. Mary checked to make sure they were perforated so they would not swell, and that the fire was low, for slow baking.

But the activity did not still her worries, nor erase her fears. Her brother, Joseph bar-Nabas, had angrily warned her that she, her son, her whole household might face arrest, stoning mobs or other harsh consequences if she persisted in her alliance, and it was discovered.

Already the Galilean and His band had been threatened with stoning on several occasions. The matter had come to a crisis when Jesus grabbed a whip from a Temple guard, overturned the shekel tables and drove out the attendants.

Could She Continue?

Could she, in duty to her son, consort any further with this rebel lot? Could she place her son's life in jeopardy, along with her own?

The widow had come to love Jerusalem, with its aura of reverence and high principle, perhaps even more than those born and reared here, those who had never known directly the merciless crudities of paganism that prevailed elsewhere.

Both she and her brother had grown up on the island of Cyprus, with its lavish Greek forums and theaters, its rare wines, its infanticide and self-mutilating frenzies of devotions to Adonis and Astarte.

She had left there as the bride of a prosperous man of Jerusalem. On his death, he had bequeathed to her this spacious, two-story house, and much goods besides.

Her brother owned another large house, in the same favored quarter, purchased for him by their father, so that he might enjoy the full rights of a Judean while studying at the feet of the great rabbis.

Thoughts Of The Brother

Her involvement in the Galilean movement might dishonor him as well.

Mary made her way back through the house. The scent of jasmine came from the censers. She nodded, with taut-faced approval, at the newly brushed Persian hangings on the walls, and placement of clean carpets in the vestibule.

Outside, workmen applied new whitewash to the limestone walls and stairs. The courtyard was neat and serene, with its aging sycamore, its laurel-lined walks, its stone archways, and plots of heliotrope. A fountain trickled softly in a pool.

It reminded Mary that she would need new, spring water for mixing of the Passover wine. She told her steward who sent a servant to fetch it. Mary watched her son, Mark, as he shined the bronze lanterns at the outer gate.

Called To Foregate.

Later, as the sun sank toward the 12th hour of day, she was summoned to the foregate. The servant had returned with the jars of water, and with him had come two of Jesus' men, Peter and John.

Mary felt her breath leave her. One of them spoke, "The Master saith unto thee, 'Where is the guest chamber that I shall eat of the Passover with my disciples?'"

They were coarsely garbed fishermen, with leather skins, heavy lowland accents of Galilee and the look of hard toil, dust and outdoor living about them.

Jesus' Request

Mary's gaze flicked back and forth between them. Until now, the Galileans had not dared come here except under cover of night. And for some disquieting reason, Jesus wanted a seder served a day in advance.

She glanced up, and saw her son, Mark, still rubbing at the lanterns. She loved him with all her heart. Her hands moved aimlessly and one of them touched the mezuzah on the right doorpost.

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart," read the tiny scroll inside the wooden case, "and with all they soul and with all thy might." She put a hand to her brow, remembering the hard but tender, wise face of Jesus, feeling His touch, hearing His words.

"Foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man hath not where to lay his head." But he must have, he must.

"Bo, merea, bo!" she said. "Come, friends, come." She lifted her skirts and climbed the stairs to show them the way to the upper room.

WILL DEDICATE NETHERLANDS' TOWER MAY 5

WASHINGTON (AP)—The inscription on the carillon tower says, simply: From the people of the Netherlands to the people of the United States.

Therein lies the story of the Netherlands' people and their queen who gathered their guilders in voluntary contributions to build a carillon in gratitude for American aid during and after World War II.

The bells of the carillon rang out across the Potomac River Friday for the first time from their new tower.

The formal dedication won't be until May 5, the day when the Netherlands' people will celebrate the liberation of their country 15 years ago from the Germans. At that time the Netherlands will transfer the tower formally to Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton.

Eight years ago the first ideas arose in the Netherlands to offer the people of the United States a symbol of friendship and gratitude, and Queen Juliana endorsed it.

The 49 bells of the carillon arrived from the Netherlands in 1954 and were installed in a temporary structure in a Washington park near the Potomac.

The same year Congress passed a law granting the Netherlands the right to erect a carillon tower on public grounds. Now the tower rises 127 feet above the banks of the Potomac.

Junior High Sports Program Up To Local Schools: Boehm

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state is powerless to crack down on the school districts which are over-emphasizing junior high school sports, says Dr. Charles H. Boehm, public instruction superintendent.

"We can suggest that certain limitations be enforced but we cannot make them mandatory," Boehm said Sunday. That is up to local school districts, he added.

He said he hadn't had the opportunity to read a 15-member committee's report recommending certain limitations. Boehm named the committee to study what priority is being assigned to junior high sports after Dr. James B. Conant, former Harvard University president, said the emphasis on a national level was shocking.

One Enforceable

When the committee's five major recommendations were outlined to Boehm by a newsman, he said perhaps only one of them could actually be mandated by the state. It would require physical examinations for all children participating in sports.

The committee, composed of educators and public health experts, said it would be impossible to drop interscholastic sports at the junior high level. But it said there were areas in which some restrictions are in order.

If adopted, the committee's recommendations would have local districts.

The Five Recommendations

1. Limit the basketball season to 10 to 12 games and football and baseball to six games.
2. Permit junior high school athletes to participate in one sport only during any one season.

3. Restrict games to Saturday.
4. Prohibit boxing in junior high and prevent boys 13 or under from participating in interscholastic wrestling and football competition.

5. Require a thorough physical examination by a medical doctor of every child engaged in a sport.

The committee said figures from the Pennsylvania Assn. for Health, Physical Education and Recreation showed that intramural sports aren't being promoted in junior high schools.

In 1959, it said, 95 of 135 secondary schools surveyed had no such program whatever. The schools had an average enrollment of 900 pupils each, the committee said.

SEATTLE (AP)—An earthquake of 2½ minutes duration shook buildings and swayed light fixtures in the Seattle area Sunday night. There were no reports of damage. Dr. Frank Neumann, University of Washington seismologist, said the tremor occurred at 10:47:40 p.m. and registered a low 5 on the Mercalli earthquake scale of 12.

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Aubrey S. McLeod, 66, one of the first Americans wounded seriously after the United States entered World War I, died Saturday of a coronary occlusion. He had been chief economist for the weekly magazine U.S. News & World Report since 1941 and at one time worked for the U.S. Treasury Department. He was born in Boston.

BOY COMPOSER EYES BALLET OR CONCERTO

By GEORGE ESPER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Now that eight-year-old Kenneth Brown has composed a successful rhapsody which drew raves from the critics he wants to try his hand at a symphony or a concerto or maybe a ballet to which his two "little" cousins can dance.

"He feels he will make his career in composing music," said his mother, Mrs. Vera Brown. "I will do all in my power to see that it is done."

Mrs. Brown said she hopes to send Kenny to the Conservatory of Music here but right now he'll continue to take composition and theory lessons from a private instructor, perhaps accelerated somewhat.

Play To Full House

The Philadelphia Orchestra, under assistant conductor William Smith, played Kenny's "Israeli Rhapsody" Saturday before a full house in the Academy of Music. Smith orchestrated the piano composition.

Kenny has been writing music since he was four. He composed "Israeli Rhapsody" last January. Most of the critics agreed Saturday the composition had great feeling and expression.

Writing in the Philadelphia Inquirer, Manuel Shores said of the rhapsody:

"Creative Talent"

"It showed an unmistakable creative talent. For this youngster has captured the flavor of the Near East in a work that is notable for its originality—its avoidance of the musical rhetoric and imita-tiveness so common in child compositions."

Kenny took his success in stride. He spent most of the afternoon Sunday playing baseball but he did find time to make his mother promise to "take him to town to the department store so he could play the organ."

"Needs An Organ"

The boy is dead set on having an organ. One which he had his eye on costs something like $2,500. Mrs. Brown, whose husband is an auto salesman, says the family can't afford it right now.

Kenny said he composes music from things he visions in his mind. When his mother asked him Sunday if he felt he could express things for different instruments, he answered:

"I think I could but I need an organ with the different instruments to try it out."

MRS. LUTHER WETZEL
Phone Fairfield 125-R-21
ORRTANNA — Rev. Alfred Got-walt was guest speaker for evangelistic services held at Mt. Union EUB Church, near Fayetteville, during the last week. Rev. Donald Kauffman is the pastor.
Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Small and family, Waynesboro, were recent visitors with Mrs. Small's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moritz.
Twenty persons attended the monthly meeting of the WSCS of the Orrtanna Methodist Church in the church social hall Thursday evening. The meeting was opened with prayer and reading by the president, Mrs. Ruth Donaldson, after which reports of the previous meeting were given.
The business meeting followed at which time plans were made for a fried chicken supper to be held in the hall April 30. Plans were also outlined to attend the annual all-day spring rally to be held in the Methodist Church at New Cumberland May 12 and announcement was made of the invitation from the Wensville group to attend their regular meeting as guests at the Wensville Church April 27.
At the close of the program,
baby shower gifts were given by the society to Mrs. Russell Sharwhich refreshments were served and a social hour held.

PICKS ADLAI AS NOMINEE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U. S.
Sen. A. S. Monroney (D-Okla.)
thinks that Adlai Stevenson again will be the Democratic Party's nominee for president.
Stevenson, who lost the two previous times he ran for president on the Democratic ticket, will be a compromise nominee, according to Monroney.
He told newsmen Saturday that neither Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts nor Lyndon B.
Johnson of Texas will be able to win the nomination on the first ballot at the party convention.
"And if the deadlock continues,"
said Monroney, "I think the states like New Jersey, California, Illinois and Pennsylvania will turn to Stevenson as a compromise."
Monroney spoke Saturday night at a banquet of the Amen Corner,
a Pittsburgh club. Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), who also attended, was asked about his chances of winning the Republican nomination for vice president.
He replied:
"I do not see any situation which could end up by my being the vice president candidate."

Roaring Drunk But He Stole Big Yacht

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—
"He was roaring drunk," said arresting officer E. J. Hill. "How he managed to get the mainsail up is beyond any of us."

But police say Arnold Moore somehow managed to steal a 67-foot yacht Saturday—although he had more sheets to the wind than the yacht.

The schooner, Tamarit, was headed for a breakwater when harbor police jumped aboard from a pursuing launch. Moore was booked on suspicion of grand theft. Officers said he is on probation for stealing a boat several days ago.

DEMOCRATS TO TRY FOR WINS

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—State
Sen. Douglas H. Elliott, Republican running for 18th District congressman, says Democrats plan to spend millions of dollars to win
two special congressional elections at the April 26 primary.

Elliott, who is seeking to fill the unexpired term of the late Rep.
Richard M. Simpson, charged Saturday night Democrats are trying to smear President Eisenhower by saying the nation has declined as a first rate power under his leadership.

Elliott, of Chambersburg, is opposed by Democrat Robert M.
Meyers, Lewistown, in the 18th
District fight. Republican Herman Schneebeli and Democrat Dean R.
Fisher, both of Williamsport, are battling for the 17th District seat.
Elliott said people were pleased with the Republican performance at Washington and in the state Senate at Harrisburg. He predicted
GOP victories in November.

WON'T AVOID RACIAL ISSUE

DETROIT (AP)—"The bitterly disputed racial integration issue is casting its shadow over the academic world, and we aren't going to back away from it," an official of the American Assn. of University Professors said Saturday.

"The association has never really had to face up to the question of racial discrimination in education," said Prof. David Fel-man of the University of Wisconsin in an interview.
"But it's popping up now, in the cases of professors who hold sometimes unpopular views on integration, and in the cases of students who have engaged in peaceful demonstrations."
Felman is chairman of the AAUP's powerful committee "A"
on academic freedom and tenure.
The association Friday unanimously approved a motion of condemnation against state officials of South Carolina for forcing the firing of six point-integration teachers in two Negro teacher colleges in 1958. Five of the six teachers were white.

USW-Kaiser Steel Program Is Lauded

PITTSBURGH (AP)—President
David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers says the USW's new labor relations program with Kaiser Steel Corp. could lead to permanent labor peace in the steel industry.

McDonald praised the plan Sunday in a USW-sponsored television show carried by stations in steel-making areas.

The program with Kaiser calls for representatives of the union, public and company to study the means of achieving harmonious relations between the company and union. The program was established under terms of the 1959 contract between the union and Kaiser.
